GIGALEARN · TEACHER PROMOTION PRACTICE

Director I (D I)

550 distinct practice questions with answers (target 550 · gap 0)
MCQ: 466 · True/False: 84 · Verified: 0 · Review required: all published items

This is an independent GigaLearn practice resource, not an official Ghana Education Service examination paper. Cross-rank duplicate stems were removed so the same question is not counted in multiple rank banks. Answer keys remain SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED.
Rank focus: System strategy, organisational governance, public accountability.

Practice question bank

Question 1 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

While working as a Director I in a school preparing a quality assurance visit, colleagues report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. Which response best reflects sound educational law and policy judgement?

A. Assuming a draft is enacted law
B. Applying a rule outside its scope
C. Checking the current official text and scope of a legal instrument
D. Relying on a paraphrase without verification

Answer: C. Checking the current official text and scope of a legal instrument

Explanation: Checking the current official text and scope of a legal instrument is best because it applies educational law and policy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in educational law and policy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Assuming a draft is enacted law: it does not apply the educational law and policy principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Applying a rule outside its scope: it does not apply the educational law and policy principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Correct — Checking the current official text and scope of a legal instrument: it applies educational law and policy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Relying on a paraphrase without verification: it does not apply the educational law and policy principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 2 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

While working as a Director I in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit, colleagues report that new teachers lack mentoring support. Which response best reflects sound ethical leadership judgement?

A. Making promises outside delegated authority
B. Ignoring a legal requirement
C. Acting beyond competence to appear decisive
D. Seeking advice or referral when an issue exceeds one's authority

Answer: D. Seeking advice or referral when an issue exceeds one's authority

Explanation: Seeking advice or referral when an issue exceeds one's authority is best because it applies ethical leadership standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in ethical leadership, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Making promises outside delegated authority: it does not apply the ethical leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Ignoring a legal requirement: it does not apply the ethical leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Acting beyond competence to appear decisive: it does not apply the ethical leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Correct — Seeking advice or referral when an issue exceeds one's authority: it applies ethical leadership standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 3 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

While working as a Director I in a school supporting newly posted teachers, colleagues report that teachers disagree about marking standards. Which response best reflects sound ethics and fairness judgement?

A. Recording decisions and reasons so they can be reviewed
B. Keeping no evidence of approval
C. Relying on undocumented verbal decisions for everything
D. Deleting records to avoid scrutiny

Answer: A. Recording decisions and reasons so they can be reviewed

Explanation: Recording decisions and reasons so they can be reviewed is best because it applies ethics and fairness standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in ethics and fairness, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Recording decisions and reasons so they can be reviewed: it applies ethics and fairness standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Keeping no evidence of approval: it does not apply the ethics and fairness principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Relying on undocumented verbal decisions for everything: it does not apply the ethics and fairness principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Deleting records to avoid scrutiny: weak information controls risk loss, breach, or irreversible deletion of important records.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 4 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

While working as a Director I in a school supporting newly posted teachers, colleagues report that new teachers lack mentoring support. Which response best reflects sound professional accountability judgement?

A. Omitting inconvenient results
B. Reporting accurate information even when results are disappointing
C. Changing definitions to claim success
D. Inflating performance figures

Answer: B. Reporting accurate information even when results are disappointing

Explanation: Reporting accurate information even when results are disappointing is best because it applies professional accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Omitting inconvenient results: it does not apply the professional accountability principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Reporting accurate information even when results are disappointing: it applies professional accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Changing definitions to claim success: it does not apply the professional accountability principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Inflating performance figures: it does not apply the professional accountability principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 5 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

While working as a Director I in a school supporting newly posted teachers, colleagues report that teachers disagree about marking standards. Which response best reflects sound public administration and ethics judgement?

A. Ignoring applicable rules
B. Following lawful procedures and documented authority
C. Acting on personal preference alone
D. Using an informal order to bypass controls

Answer: B. Following lawful procedures and documented authority

Explanation: Following lawful procedures and documented authority is best because it applies public administration and ethics standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public administration and ethics, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Ignoring applicable rules: it does not apply the public administration and ethics principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Following lawful procedures and documented authority: it applies public administration and ethics standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Acting on personal preference alone: this severs the link between curriculum intent, evidence of learning, and classroom action.
Incorrect — Using an informal order to bypass controls: it does not apply the public administration and ethics principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 6 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

If a decision must be defensible and fair in the area of decision-making, what should be prioritised?

A. Using criteria that change for each option
B. Ignoring costs and risks

C. Comparing options against transparent criteria and likely consequences
D. Choosing the first option automatically
Answer: C. Comparing options against transparent criteria and likely consequences
Explanation: Comparing options against transparent criteria and likely consequences is best because it applies decision-making standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in decision-making, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Using criteria that change for each option: it does not apply the decision-making principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Ignoring costs and risks: it does not apply the decision-making principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Comparing options against transparent criteria and likely consequences: it applies decision-making standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Choosing the first option automatically: it does not apply the decision-making principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 7 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

If a decision must be defensible and fair in the area of educational law and policy, what should be prioritised?
A. Assuming a policy overrides every law
B. Treating all documents as legally identical
C. Distinguishing a policy, a regulation and an Act of Parliament
D. Ignoring the issuing authority
Answer: C. Distinguishing a policy, a regulation and an Act of Parliament
Explanation: Distinguishing a policy, a regulation and an Act of Parliament is best because it applies educational law and policy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in educational law and policy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Assuming a policy overrides every law: it does not apply the educational law and policy principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Treating all documents as legally identical: it does not apply the educational law and policy principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Distinguishing a policy, a regulation and an Act of Parliament: it applies educational law and policy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Ignoring the issuing authority: it does not apply the educational law and policy principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 8 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

If a decision must be defensible and fair in the area of ethical leadership, what should be prioritised?
A. Personal loyalty above public duty
B. Consistent integrity, impartiality and service orientation
C. Avoiding oversight
D. Secrecy as the default for all decisions
Answer: B. Consistent integrity, impartiality and service orientation
Explanation: Consistent integrity, impartiality and service orientation is best because it applies ethical leadership standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in ethical leadership, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Personal loyalty above public duty: it does not apply the ethical leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Consistent integrity, impartiality and service orientation: it applies ethical leadership standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Avoiding oversight: it does not apply the ethical leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Secrecy as the default for all decisions: it does not apply the ethical leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 9 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

If a decision must be defensible and fair in the area of ethics and fairness, what should be prioritised?

A. Deleting records to avoid scrutiny
B. Keeping no evidence of approval
C. Recording decisions and reasons so they can be reviewed
D. Relying on undocumented verbal decisions for everything

Answer: C. Recording decisions and reasons so they can be reviewed

Explanation: Recording decisions and reasons so they can be reviewed is best because it applies ethics and fairness standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in ethics and fairness, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Deleting records to avoid scrutiny: weak information controls risk loss, breach, or irreversible deletion of important records.

Incorrect — Keeping no evidence of approval: it does not apply the ethics and fairness principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Correct — Recording decisions and reasons so they can be reviewed: it applies ethics and fairness standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Relying on undocumented verbal decisions for everything: it does not apply the ethics and fairness principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 10 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

If a decision must be defensible and fair in the area of evidence-based leadership, what should be prioritised?

A. Replacing evidence with rank or seniority
B. Ignoring contradictory evidence
C. Using data without checking its meaning
D. Combining data with professional judgement and local context

Answer: D. Combining data with professional judgement and local context

Explanation: Combining data with professional judgement and local context is best because it applies evidence-based leadership standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in evidence-based leadership, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Replacing evidence with rank or seniority: it does not apply the evidence-based leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Ignoring contradictory evidence: it does not apply the evidence-based leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Using data without checking its meaning: it does not apply the evidence-based leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Correct — Combining data with professional judgement and local context: it applies evidence-based leadership standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 11 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

If a decision must be defensible and fair in the area of organisational culture, what should be prioritised?

A. No opportunity to raise concerns
B. Psychological safety with clear standards and accountability
C. Confusing respect with absence of standards
D. Fear as the only basis for compliance

Answer: B. Psychological safety with clear standards and accountability

Explanation: Psychological safety with clear standards and accountability is best because it applies organisational culture standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational culture, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — No opportunity to raise concerns: it does not apply the organisational culture principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Correct — Psychological safety with clear standards and accountability: it applies organisational culture standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Confusing respect with absence of standards: it does not apply the organisational culture principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Fear as the only basis for compliance: it does not apply the organisational culture principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 12 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

If a decision must be defensible and fair in the area of professional accountability, what should be prioritised?

A. Concealing a known error
B. Blaming others without investigation
C. Owning decisions, correcting errors and documenting improvements
D. Changing the record without explanation

Answer: C. Owning decisions, correcting errors and documenting improvements

Explanation: Owning decisions, correcting errors and documenting improvements is best because it applies professional accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Concealing a known error: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Incorrect — Blaming others without investigation: it does not apply the professional accountability principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Owning decisions, correcting errors and documenting improvements: it applies professional accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Changing the record without explanation: it does not apply the professional accountability principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 13 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

If a decision must be defensible and fair in the area of public administration and ethics, what should be prioritised?

A. Confidential handling of personal information
B. Publishing sensitive details for convenience
C. Keeping no access controls
D. Sharing records with unauthorised people

Answer: A. Confidential handling of personal information

Explanation: Confidential handling of personal information is best because it applies public administration and ethics standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public administration and ethics, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Confidential handling of personal information: it applies public administration and ethics standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Publishing sensitive details for convenience: it does not apply the public administration and ethics principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Keeping no access controls: it does not apply the public administration and ethics principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Sharing records with unauthorised people: it does not apply the public administration and ethics principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 14 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

While working as a Director I in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary, colleagues report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. Which response best reflects sound public administration and ethics judgement?

A. A clear audit trail for public expenditure
B. Deleting supporting documents
C. Verbal explanations without receipts
D. Unrecorded cash handling

Answer: A. A clear audit trail for public expenditure

Explanation: A clear audit trail for public expenditure is best because it applies public administration and ethics standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public administration and ethics, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — A clear audit trail for public expenditure: it applies public administration and ethics standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Deleting supporting documents: it does not apply the public administration and ethics principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Verbal explanations without receipts: it does not apply the public administration and ethics principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Unrecorded cash handling: it does not apply the public administration and ethics principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 15 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

If a decision must be defensible and fair in the area of public service leadership, what should be prioritised?
A. Proportionate decisions supported by evidence and documented reasons
B. Changing records to justify a decision
C. Decisions based only on emotion
D. Disproportionate action without explanation
Answer: A. Proportionate decisions supported by evidence and documented reasons
Explanation: Proportionate decisions supported by evidence and documented reasons is best because evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public service leadership, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Proportionate decisions supported by evidence and documented reasons: evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement.
Incorrect — Changing records to justify a decision: it does not apply the public service leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Decisions based only on emotion: it does not apply the public service leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Disproportionate action without explanation: it does not apply the public service leadership principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 16 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 3 Why analyse assessment results?
A. Rank learners publicly
B. Avoid future planning
C. Replace all observation
D. Identify strengths, misconceptions and next steps
Answer: D. Identify strengths, misconceptions and next steps
Explanation: Identify strengths, misconceptions and next steps is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rank learners publicly: weak information controls risk loss, breach, or irreversible deletion of important records.
Incorrect — Avoid future planning: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Replace all observation: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Identify strengths, misconceptions and next steps: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 17 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 5 Which assessment best matches an objective to compare two ideas?
A. A task requiring comparison
B. An unrelated spelling test

C. An attendance register
D. A task asking only for a date
Answer: A. A task requiring comparison
Explanation: A task requiring comparison is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — A task requiring comparison: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — An unrelated spelling test: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — An attendance register: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — A task asking only for a date: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 18 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 7 Which practice promotes critical thinking?
A. Accept every claim without examination
B. Ask learners to justify claims with evidence
C. Require copying only
D. Discourage questions
Answer: B. Ask learners to justify claims with evidence
Explanation: Ask learners to justify claims with evidence is best because evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Accept every claim without examination: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Ask learners to justify claims with evidence: evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement.
Incorrect — Require copying only: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Discourage questions: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 19 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 9 What is the main purpose of a lesson objective?
A. Replace assessment
B. Record teacher attendance
C. State the intended learning outcome
D. List every school rule
Answer: C. State the intended learning outcome
Explanation: State the intended learning outcome is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Replace assessment: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Record teacher attendance: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — State the intended learning outcome: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — List every school rule: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 20 · TRUE / FALSE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 11 One data point always proves the cause of a school problem. TRUE

FALSE
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in true / false — promotion aptitude, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 21 · TRUE / FALSE

Formative assessment can help a teacher adjust instruction during learning. TRUE GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 21 FALSE
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in true / false — promotion aptitude, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 22 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 22 Which is a measurable improvement target?
A. Make the school perfect
B. Work harder without evidence
C. Increase the proportion meeting a defined criterion by a review date
D. Improve everything someday
Answer: C. Increase the proportion meeting a defined criterion by a review date
Explanation: Increase the proportion meeting a defined criterion by a review date is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Make the school perfect: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Work harder without evidence: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Increase the proportion meeting a defined criterion by a review date: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Improve everything someday: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 23 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 24 What should guide selection of a teaching resource?
A. Colour alone
B. Price alone
C. Whether it avoids the objective
D. Learning goals, learner needs, accuracy and accessibility
Answer: D. Learning goals, learner needs, accuracy and accessibility
Explanation: Learning goals, learner needs, accuracy and accessibility is best because evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Colour alone: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Price alone: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Whether it avoids the objective: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Learning goals, learner needs, accuracy and accessibility: evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 24 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 26 What is sound data-informed leadership?

A. Use relevant evidence alongside professional judgement
B. Treat one figure as the whole truth
C. Ignore context
D. Alter records to fit expectations

Answer: A. Use relevant evidence alongside professional judgement

Explanation: Use relevant evidence alongside professional judgement is best because evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Use relevant evidence alongside professional judgement: evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement.
Incorrect — Treat one figure as the whole truth: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Ignore context: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Alter records to fit expectations: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 25 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 28 Why engage stakeholders in school improvement?

A. Give one person all decision power
B. Gain relevant perspectives and build shared responsibility
C. Remove professional judgement
D. Guarantee unanimous agreement

Answer: B. Gain relevant perspectives and build shared responsibility

Explanation: Gain relevant perspectives and build shared responsibility is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Give one person all decision power: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Gain relevant perspectives and build shared responsibility: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Remove professional judgement: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Guarantee unanimous agreement: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 26 · TRUE / FALSE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 30 Collaborative planning can help teachers share expertise. TRUE FALSE

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in true / false — promotion aptitude, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 27 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 41 Which action best supports inclusive participation?

A. Lower expectations for everyone
B. Adapt support to learners' needs
C. Give identical support regardless of need
D. Exclude learners who need accommodations

Answer: B. Adapt support to learners' needs

Explanation: Adapt support to learners' needs is best because evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Lower expectations for everyone: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Correct — Adapt support to learners' needs: evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement.

Incorrect — Give identical support regardless of need: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Exclude learners who need accommodations: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 28 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 43 Which approach best supports a new teacher?

A. Avoid feedback until year end
B. Expect instant knowledge of every local procedure
C. Provide orientation, mentoring and discussion of practice
D. Assign duties without explanation

Answer: C. Provide orientation, mentoring and discussion of practice

Explanation: Provide orientation, mentoring and discussion of practice is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Avoid feedback until year end: avoiding feedback removes a chance to identify weaknesses and improve practice.

Incorrect — Expect instant knowledge of every local procedure: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Correct — Provide orientation, mentoring and discussion of practice: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Assign duties without explanation: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 29 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 45 What is an useful first step in planning an intervention?

A. Choose an activity before identifying need
B. Promise results without baseline data
C. Avoid consultation
D. Define the problem with evidence and identify the desired outcome

Answer: D. Define the problem with evidence and identify the desired outcome

Explanation: Define the problem with evidence and identify the desired outcome is best because evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Choose an activity before identifying need: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Promise results without baseline data: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Avoid consultation: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Correct — Define the problem with evidence and identify the desired outcome: evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 30 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 47 How should a parent concern be handled?

A. Listen respectfully, establish facts and agree on next steps
B. Dismiss the parent immediately
C. Promise an outcome before checking
D. Reveal another learner's record

Answer: A. Listen respectfully, establish facts and agree on next steps

Explanation: Listen respectfully, establish facts and agree on next steps is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Listen respectfully, establish facts and agree on next steps: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Dismiss the parent immediately: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Promise an outcome before checking: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Reveal another learner's record: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 31 · TRUE / FALSE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 49 A rubric can describe criteria for different performance levels. TRUE FALSE

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in true / false — promotion aptitude, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 32 · TRUE / FALSE

Assessment should align with the learning objective it measures. TRUE GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 59 FALSE

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in true / false — promotion aptitude, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 33 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 60 What helps a school improvement plan succeed?

A. Measurable priorities, responsibilities and review points
B. Goals without owners
C. No evidence collection
D. Daily changes without rationale

Answer: A. Measurable priorities, responsibilities and review points

Explanation: Measurable priorities, responsibilities and review points is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Measurable priorities, responsibilities and review points: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Goals without owners: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — No evidence collection: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Daily changes without rationale: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 34 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 62 What does differentiated instruction aim to do?

A. Use one method regardless of need
B. Adapt teaching or support to learner readiness and needs
C. Remove all challenge
D. Ignore evidence

Answer: B. Adapt teaching or support to learner readiness and needs
Explanation: Adapt teaching or support to learner readiness and needs is best because evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Use one method regardless of need: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Adapt teaching or support to learner readiness and needs: evidence-informed, fair procedures protect learners while enabling professional judgement.
Incorrect — Remove all challenge: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Ignore evidence: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 35 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 64 How should confidential learner information be handled?

A. Discuss it casually in public
B. Send it to all contacts
C. Share only with authorised people who need it for a legitimate purpose
D. Post it publicly

Answer: C. Share only with authorised people who need it for a legitimate purpose
Explanation: Share only with authorised people who need it for a legitimate purpose is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Discuss it casually in public: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Send it to all contacts: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Share only with authorised people who need it for a legitimate purpose: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Post it publicly: weak information controls risk loss, breach, or irreversible deletion of important records.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 36 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 66 A learner reports a safeguarding concern. What is the appropriate response?

A. Promise absolute secrecy
B. Discuss it widely

C. Ignore it without assessment
D. Follow safeguarding procedures and report to the responsible person
Answer: D. Follow safeguarding procedures and report to the responsible person
Explanation: Follow safeguarding procedures and report to the responsible person is best because following safeguarding procedures protects learners and ensures concerns are handled through proper channels. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Promise absolute secrecy: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Discuss it widely: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Ignore it without assessment: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Follow safeguarding procedures and report to the responsible person: following safeguarding procedures protects learners and ensures concerns are handled through proper channels.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 37 · TRUE / FALSE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 68 If an intervention is not working, leaders should never change it. TRUE FALSE
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in true / false — promotion aptitude, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 38 · TRUE / FALSE

A teacher should promise absolute secrecy about a safeguarding concern. TRUE GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 78 FALSE
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in true / false — promotion aptitude, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 39 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 79 What is the purpose of a staff meeting agenda?
A. Prevent preparation
B. Replace follow-up
C. List unrelated topics without priorities
D. Clarify topics, outcomes and time allocation
Answer: D. Clarify topics, outcomes and time allocation
Explanation: Clarify topics, outcomes and time allocation is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Prevent preparation: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Replace follow-up: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — List unrelated topics without priorities: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Clarify topics, outcomes and time allocation: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 40 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 81 How should digital learning tools be used responsibly?

A. Check accuracy, privacy, accessibility and learning value
B. Assume every answer is correct
C. Upload private data anywhere
D. Use technology even when it obstructs learning

Answer: A. Check accuracy, privacy, accessibility and learning value

Explanation: Check accuracy, privacy, accessibility and learning value is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Check accuracy, privacy, accessibility and learning value: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Assume every answer is correct: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Upload private data anywhere: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Use technology even when it obstructs learning: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 41 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 83 What is the purpose of a rubric?

A. Hide expectations
B. Describe criteria and performance levels
C. Replace task instructions
D. Guarantee identical scores

Answer: B. Describe criteria and performance levels

Explanation: Describe criteria and performance levels is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Hide expectations: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Describe criteria and performance levels: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Replace task instructions: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Guarantee identical scores: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 42 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 85 What supports continuity when a school project changes leadership?

A. Discard decisions without review
B. Avoid documentation
C. Clear records, responsibilities and handover notes
D. Keep all information with one person

Answer: C. Clear records, responsibilities and handover notes

Explanation: Clear records, responsibilities and handover notes is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Discard decisions without review: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Avoid documentation: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Clear records, responsibilities and handover notes: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Keep all information with one person: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 43 · TRUE / FALSE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 87 A respectful classroom climate can support learner participation. TRUE FALSE

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in true / false — promotion aptitude, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 44 · TRUE / FALSE

Clear success criteria help learners understand expectations. TRUE GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 97 FALSE

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in true / false — promotion aptitude, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 45 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 98 What is a scheme of learning used for?

A. Record only staff leave
B. Make every lesson identical
C. Organise curriculum content and learning over time
D. Replace the curriculum
Answer: C. Organise curriculum content and learning over time
Explanation: Organise curriculum content and learning over time is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Record only staff leave: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Incorrect — Make every lesson identical: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Correct — Organise curriculum content and learning over time: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Replace the curriculum: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 46 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

GigaLearn ■ D I Practice Page 100 Which feedback is most constructive?

A. A personal insult
B. A score with no context
C. Public shaming
D. Specific feedback with a next step

Answer: D. Specific feedback with a next step

Explanation: Specific feedback with a next step is best because it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in professional practice, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — A personal insult: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — A score with no context: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Incorrect — Public shaming: it does not apply the professional practice principle required here and would weaken fair, evidence-informed support for learners or staff.

Correct — Specific feedback with a next step: it applies professional practice standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 47 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit ahead of a circuit quality visit, the subject panel report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 48 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the subject panel report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 49 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances when reviewing lesson observation notes, the guidance team report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 50 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the guidance team report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 51 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the guidance team report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Answer: D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 52 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the academic board report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 53 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 7: In a school with rising enrolment in lower primary while reallocating limited teaching aids, a Director I may skip documented procedures in talent and succession whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 54 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the academic board report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 55 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit after a parents' association meeting, the PTA executive report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 56 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers while setting department performance targets, the PTA executive report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes

C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 57 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms when digitising paper assessment records, the PTA executive report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 58 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the quality assurance team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 59 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records after a near-miss safety incident, the quality assurance team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 60 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 14: In a school responding to community concerns about discipline during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, a Director I strengthens policy stewardship when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 61 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum while reallocating limited teaching aids, newly posted teachers report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 62 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit ahead of a circuit quality visit, newly posted teachers report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Answer: D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 63 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams while planning remedial support for struggling learners, newly posted teachers report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 64 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the assessment committee report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 65 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance when updating the school improvement plan, the assessment committee report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 66 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the assessment committee report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 67 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 21: In a school introducing a new subject timetable after a parents' association meeting, a Director I may skip documented procedures in organisational governance whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 68 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary after analysing three weeks of attendance data, department heads report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 69 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates during mid-term review week, department heads report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting

C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 70 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit while planning remedial support for struggling learners, circuit officers report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 71 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers during induction of newly posted staff, circuit officers report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Answer: D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 72 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms during subject panel discussions, circuit officers report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 73 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention during subject panel discussions, the school leadership team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 74 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 28: In a school digitising attendance and assessment records after analysing three weeks of attendance data, a Director I strengthens risk governance when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 75 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline during subject panel discussions, the school leadership team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 76 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the subject panel report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 77 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit after receiving conflicting community feedback, the subject panel report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 78 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams while reallocating limited teaching aids, the subject panel report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 79 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the guidance team report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 80 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance when digitising paper assessment records, the guidance team report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 81 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 35: In a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources after a near-miss safety incident, a Director I may skip documented procedures in executive oversight whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 82 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the academic board report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting

C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 83 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary during induction of newly posted staff, the academic board report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Answer: D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 84 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates during mid-term review week, the academic board report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 85 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the PTA executive report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 86 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers during mid-term review week, the PTA executive report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 87 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms during mid-term review week, the PTA executive report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 88 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 42: In a school strengthening girl-child retention while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, a Director I strengthens public-sector accountability when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 89 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records while setting department performance targets, the quality assurance team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 90 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline during induction of newly posted staff, the quality assurance team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 91 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum after a parents' association meeting, newly posted teachers report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 92 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit after analysing three weeks of attendance data, newly posted teachers report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 93 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, newly posted teachers report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 94 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the assessment committee report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 95 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 49: In a school recovering from disrupted attendance when updating the school improvement plan, a Director I may skip documented procedures in equity at system level whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 96 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources during mid-term review week, the assessment committee report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 97 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable when moderating end-of-term scripts, department heads report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 98 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary when digitising paper assessment records, department heads report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Answer: D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 99 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates during a peer coaching cycle, department heads report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 100 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit ahead of a circuit quality visit, circuit officers report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 101 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers during induction of newly posted staff, circuit officers report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 102 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 56: In a school with mixed-ability classrooms while setting department performance targets, a Director I strengthens cross-sector coordination when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 103 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention when updating the school improvement plan, the school leadership team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 104 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the school leadership team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 105 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline following a learner wellbeing referral, the school leadership team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 106 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the subject panel report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 107 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit during induction of newly posted staff, the subject panel report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 108 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams during mid-term review week, the subject panel report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 109 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 63: In a school with many learners who travel long distances when moderating end-of-term scripts, a Director I may skip documented procedures in system strategy whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.

Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 110 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance when digitising paper assessment records, the guidance team report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 111 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the guidance team report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 112 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable during subject panel discussions, the academic board report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 113 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary during induction of newly posted staff, the academic board report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 114 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates when reviewing lesson observation notes, the academic board report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 115 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit after receiving conflicting community feedback, the PTA executive report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 116 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 70: In a school supporting newly posted teachers during subject panel discussions, a Director I strengthens institutional integrity when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 117 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms after a near-miss safety incident, the PTA executive report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 118 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the quality assurance team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 119 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the quality assurance team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 120 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the quality assurance team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 121 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum during a peer coaching cycle, newly posted teachers report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 122 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit during induction of newly posted staff, newly posted teachers report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 123 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 77: In a senior high school preparing for mock exams when digitising paper assessment records, a Director I may skip documented procedures in talent and succession whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway:

in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 124 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances while setting department performance targets, the assessment committee report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 125 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the assessment committee report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 126 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources when reviewing lesson observation notes, the assessment committee report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 127 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable when updating the school improvement plan, department heads report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 128 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary ahead of a circuit quality visit, department heads report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 129 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates following a learner wellbeing referral, department heads report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 130 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 84: In a school preparing a quality assurance visit following a learner wellbeing referral, a Director I strengthens policy stewardship when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 131 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers when moderating end-of-term scripts, circuit officers report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 132 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms during subject panel discussions, circuit officers report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 133 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the school leadership team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 134 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records when moderating end-of-term scripts, the school leadership team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 135 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline when updating the school improvement plan, the school leadership team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 136 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum ahead of a circuit quality visit, the subject panel report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 137 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 91: In a basic school in a peri-urban circuit after receiving conflicting community feedback, a Director I may skip documented procedures in organisational governance whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 138 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams during induction of newly posted staff, the subject panel report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 139 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances after receiving conflicting community feedback, the guidance team report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 140 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance during induction of newly posted staff, the guidance team report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 141 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources after receiving conflicting community feedback, the guidance team report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts

that hide problems.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 142 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the academic board report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 143 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary when moderating end-of-term scripts, the academic board report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 144 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 98: In a school where parents request clearer progress updates during a peer coaching cycle, a Director I strengthens risk governance when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 145 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit when digitising paper assessment records, the PTA executive report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 146 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers after a near-miss safety incident, the PTA executive report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 147 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the PTA executive report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 148 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention after a parents' association meeting, the quality assurance team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 149 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records when moderating end-of-term scripts, the quality assurance team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes

C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 150 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline when reviewing lesson observation notes, the quality assurance team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 151 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 105: In a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum ahead of a circuit quality visit, a Director I may skip documented procedures in executive oversight whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 152 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit during a peer coaching cycle, newly posted teachers report that inclusion

plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 153 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams during a peer coaching cycle, newly posted teachers report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 154 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances during a peer coaching cycle, the assessment committee report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 155 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance during subject panel discussions, the assessment committee report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 156 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources ahead of a circuit quality visit, the assessment committee report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 157 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable during subject panel discussions, department heads report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 158 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 112: In a school with rising enrolment in lower primary while planning remedial support for struggling learners, a Director I strengthens public-sector accountability when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.

Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 159 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, department heads report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 160 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit during induction of newly posted staff, circuit officers report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 161 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers after a near-miss safety incident, circuit officers report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 162 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms during subject panel discussions, circuit officers report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 163 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention when reviewing lesson observation notes, the school leadership team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?
A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 164 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records during induction of newly posted staff, the school leadership team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 165 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 119: In a school responding to community concerns about discipline after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, a Director I may skip documented procedures in equity at system level whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 166 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the subject panel report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 167 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit when updating the school improvement plan, the subject panel report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 168 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams after a parents' association meeting, the subject panel report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 169 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances after receiving conflicting community feedback, the guidance team report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 170 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance while setting department performance targets, the guidance team report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 171 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the guidance team report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Answer: D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 172 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 126: In a school introducing a new subject timetable during induction of newly posted staff, a Director I strengthens cross-sector coordination when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 173 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary following a learner wellbeing referral, the academic board report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Answer: D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 174 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates following a learner wellbeing referral, the academic board report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 175 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the PTA executive report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy

D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 176 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers following a learner wellbeing referral, the PTA executive report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 177 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms while reallocating limited teaching aids, the PTA executive report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 178 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the quality assurance team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 179 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 133: In a school digitising attendance and assessment records when reviewing lesson observation notes, a Director I may skip documented procedures in system strategy whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 180 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the quality assurance team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 181 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, newly posted teachers report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 182 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit during a peer coaching cycle, newly posted teachers report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 183 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams following a learner wellbeing referral, newly posted teachers report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 184 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances during induction of newly posted staff, the assessment committee report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 185 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the assessment committee report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 186 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 140: In a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources during mid-term review week, a Director I strengthens institutional integrity when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 187 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable during induction of newly posted staff, department heads report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 188 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary while planning remedial support for struggling learners, department heads report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 189 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates after a parents' association meeting, department heads report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 190 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit after receiving conflicting community feedback, circuit officers report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 191 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, circuit officers report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 192 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms after analysing three weeks of attendance data, circuit officers report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 193 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 147: In a school strengthening girl-child retention while reallocating limited teaching aids, a

Director I may skip documented procedures in talent and succession whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 194 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records during a peer coaching cycle, the school leadership team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 195 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the school leadership team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 196 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum ahead of a circuit quality visit, the subject panel report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 197 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit during subject panel discussions, the subject panel report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 198 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams when updating the school improvement plan, the subject panel report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Answer: D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 199 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances after a near-miss safety incident, the guidance team report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 200 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 154: In a school recovering from disrupted attendance during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, a Director I strengthens policy stewardship when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 201 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the guidance team report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 202 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the academic board report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 203 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary when moderating end-of-term scripts, the academic board report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 204 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates after receiving conflicting community feedback, the academic board report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 205 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the PTA executive report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 206 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 161: In a school with mixed-ability classrooms after a parents' association meeting, a Director I may skip documented procedures in organisational governance whenever results appear urgent.

A. True

B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.

Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 207 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention during induction of newly posted staff, the quality assurance team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response

C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient

D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 208 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records during subject panel discussions, the quality assurance team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists

B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context

D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 209 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline during induction of newly posted staff, the quality assurance team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 210 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum during mid-term review week, newly posted teachers report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 211 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit when digitising paper assessment records, newly posted teachers report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 212 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams after a near-miss safety incident, newly posted teachers report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?
A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 213 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 168: In a school with many learners who travel long distances after analysing three weeks of attendance data, a Director I strengthens risk governance when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 214 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance during a peer coaching cycle, the assessment committee report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 215 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources after a parents' association meeting, the assessment committee report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 216 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable after analysing three weeks of attendance data, department heads report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 217 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary after receiving conflicting community feedback, department heads report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 218 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates following a learner wellbeing referral, department heads report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 219 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit during induction of newly posted staff, circuit officers report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 220 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 175: In a school supporting newly posted teachers after a near-miss safety incident, a Director I may skip documented procedures in executive oversight whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.

Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 221 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms after receiving conflicting community feedback, circuit officers report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 222 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention after a parents' association meeting, the school leadership team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?
A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 223 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records when updating the school improvement plan, the school leadership team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 224 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline when digitising paper assessment records, the school leadership team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 225 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the subject panel report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 226 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit while reallocating limited teaching aids, the subject panel report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 227 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 182: In a senior high school preparing for mock exams while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, a Director I strengthens public-sector accountability when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 228 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances following a learner wellbeing referral, the guidance team report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 229 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance when reviewing lesson observation notes, the guidance team report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 230 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the guidance team report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Answer: D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 231 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable after receiving conflicting community feedback, the academic board report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Answer: D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 232 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary during mid-term review week, the academic board report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Answer: D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 233 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the academic board report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 234 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 189: In a school preparing a quality assurance visit when updating the school improvement plan, a Director I may skip documented procedures in equity at system level whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 235 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers ahead of a circuit quality visit, the PTA executive report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 236 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the PTA executive report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 237 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention after a parents' association meeting, the quality assurance team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context

D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Answer: D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 238 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records during mid-term review week, the quality assurance team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 239 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline when reviewing lesson observation notes, the quality assurance team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 240 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, newly posted teachers report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 241 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 196: In a basic school in a peri-urban circuit while setting department performance targets, a Director I strengthens cross-sector coordination when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 242 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams during induction of newly posted staff, newly posted teachers report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Answer: D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 243 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances when moderating end-of-term scripts, the assessment committee report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 244 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance following a learner wellbeing referral, the assessment committee report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 245 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the assessment committee report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 246 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable during subject panel discussions, department heads report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 247 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, department heads report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 248 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 203: In a school where parents request clearer progress updates when moderating end-of-term scripts, a Director I may skip documented procedures in system strategy whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 249 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit after analysing three weeks of attendance data, circuit officers report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 250 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers ahead of a circuit quality visit, circuit officers report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting

C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 251 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms following a learner wellbeing referral, circuit officers report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 252 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention following a learner wellbeing referral, the school leadership team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Answer: D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 253 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records after a near-miss safety incident, the school leadership team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 254 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the school leadership team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 255 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 210: In a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum during subject panel discussions, a Director I strengthens institutional integrity when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 256 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit while setting department performance targets, the subject panel report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 257 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams following a learner wellbeing referral, the subject panel report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?
A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 258 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances after a near-miss safety incident, the guidance team report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 259 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance during induction of newly posted staff, the guidance team report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 260 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources when moderating end-of-term scripts, the guidance team report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 261 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 217: In a school with rising enrolment in lower primary when digitising paper assessment records, a Director I may skip documented procedures in talent and succession whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 262 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates when moderating end-of-term scripts, the academic board report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 263 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the PTA executive report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 264 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the PTA executive report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 265 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms while setting department performance targets, the PTA executive report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 266 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention when moderating end-of-term scripts, the quality assurance team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Answer: D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 267 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records ahead of a circuit quality visit, the quality assurance team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 268 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 224: In a school responding to community concerns about discipline following a learner wellbeing referral, a Director I strengthens policy stewardship when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 269 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum after receiving conflicting community feedback, newly posted teachers report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 270 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, newly posted teachers report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 271 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams during a peer coaching cycle, newly posted teachers report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 272 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances when reviewing lesson observation notes, the assessment committee report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 273 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the assessment committee report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 274 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 231: In a school introducing a new subject timetable after receiving conflicting community feedback, a Director I may skip documented procedures in organisational governance whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 275 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, department heads report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 276 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates during a peer coaching cycle, department heads report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 277 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit after analysing three weeks of attendance data, circuit officers report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 278 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, circuit officers report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 279 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms after analysing three weeks of attendance data, circuit officers report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 280 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention during mid-term review week, the school leadership team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 281 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 238: In a school digitising attendance and assessment records during a peer coaching cycle, a Director I strengthens risk governance when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 282 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline after a parents' association meeting, the school leadership team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 283 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit while setting department performance targets, the subject panel report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 284 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams when reviewing lesson observation notes, the subject panel report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 285 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances during a peer coaching cycle, the guidance team report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 286 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance during a peer coaching cycle, the guidance team report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting

C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 287 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 245: In a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources ahead of a circuit quality visit, a Director I may skip documented procedures in executive oversight whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 288 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable ahead of a circuit quality visit, the academic board report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 289 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary during mid-term review week, the academic board report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Answer: D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 290 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates when reviewing lesson observation notes, the academic board report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 291 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit during subject panel discussions, the PTA executive report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 292 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers when updating the school improvement plan, the PTA executive report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 293 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms after receiving conflicting community feedback, the PTA executive report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 294 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 252: In a school strengthening girl-child retention while planning remedial support for struggling learners, a Director I strengthens public-sector accountability when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 295 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records after a near-miss safety incident, the quality assurance team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 296 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline while reallocating limited teaching aids, the quality assurance team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 297 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum when updating the school improvement plan, newly posted teachers report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 298 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit after analysing three weeks of attendance data, newly posted teachers report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 299 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams ahead of a circuit quality visit, newly posted teachers report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 300 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances after a parents' association meeting, the assessment committee report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 301 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 259: In a school recovering from disrupted attendance after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, a Director I may skip documented procedures in equity at system level whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 302 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources while reallocating limited teaching aids, the assessment committee report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 303 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable during induction of newly posted staff, department heads report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 304 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary while setting department performance targets, department heads report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question.

Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 305 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates while planning remedial support for struggling learners, department heads report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 306 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit after a parents' association meeting, circuit officers report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 307 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers when reviewing lesson observation notes, circuit officers report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 308 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 266: In a school with mixed-ability classrooms during induction of newly posted staff, a Director I strengthens cross-sector coordination when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.

Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 309 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the school leadership team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 310 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records when digitising paper assessment records, the school leadership team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 311 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline when digitising paper assessment records, the school leadership team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 312 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the subject panel report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response

C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 313 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit while setting department performance targets, the subject panel report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 314 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the subject panel report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 315 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 273: In a school with many learners who travel long distances when reviewing lesson observation notes, a Director I may skip documented procedures in system strategy whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 316 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance during a peer coaching cycle, the guidance team report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 317 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources ahead of a circuit quality visit, the guidance team report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts

that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 318 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable during subject panel discussions, the academic board report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 319 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the academic board report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 320 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates after a near-miss safety incident, the academic board report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 321 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit while setting department performance targets, the PTA executive report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 322 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 280: In a school supporting newly posted teachers during mid-term review week, a Director I strengthens institutional integrity when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 323 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms after a parents' association meeting, the PTA executive report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 324 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention following a learner wellbeing referral, the quality assurance team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 325 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records while setting department performance targets, the quality assurance team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response

C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 326 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline after a parents' association meeting, the quality assurance team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 327 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum during mid-term review week, newly posted teachers report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 328 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit during mid-term review week, newly posted teachers report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 329 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 287: In a senior high school preparing for mock exams while reallocating limited teaching aids, a Director I may skip documented procedures in talent and succession whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 330 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances during subject panel discussions, the assessment committee report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 331 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance while setting department performance targets, the assessment committee report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 332 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources while reallocating limited teaching aids, the assessment committee report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 333 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable following a learner wellbeing referral, department heads report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 334 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary during a peer coaching cycle, department heads report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 335 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates when moderating end-of-term scripts, department heads report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 336 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 294: In a school preparing a quality assurance visit during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, a Director I strengthens policy stewardship when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 337 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers during a peer coaching cycle, circuit officers report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 338 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, circuit officers report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 339 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention during induction of newly posted staff, the school leadership team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Answer: D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 340 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records after a near-miss safety incident, the school leadership team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 341 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the school leadership team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 342 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the subject panel report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 343 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 301: In a basic school in a peri-urban circuit after a parents' association meeting, a Director I may skip documented procedures in organisational governance whenever results appear urgent.

A. True

B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.

Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 344 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the subject panel report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response

C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient

D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 345 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances ahead of a circuit quality visit, the guidance team report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists

B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response

C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 346 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the guidance team report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 347 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable while reallocating limited teaching aids, the academic board report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Answer: D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 348 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the academic board report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 349 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 308: In a school where parents request clearer progress updates after analysing three weeks of attendance data, a Director I strengthens risk governance when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 350 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers during a peer coaching cycle, the PTA executive report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 351 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms during a peer coaching cycle, the PTA executive report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 352 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention ahead of a circuit quality visit, the quality assurance team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Answer: D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 353 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records while reallocating limited teaching aids, the quality assurance team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 354 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline after receiving conflicting community feedback, the quality assurance team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 355 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 315: In a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum after a near-miss safety incident, a Director I may skip documented procedures in executive oversight whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 356 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit after a parents' association meeting, newly posted teachers report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Answer: D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 357 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams following a learner wellbeing referral, newly posted teachers report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 358 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances after a parents' association meeting, the assessment committee report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 359 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the assessment committee report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 360 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources when digitising paper assessment records, the assessment committee report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 361 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, department heads report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting

C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 362 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 322: In a school with rising enrolment in lower primary while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, a Director I strengthens public-sector accountability when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 363 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates while planning remedial support for struggling learners, department heads report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 364 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, circuit officers report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 365 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers during subject panel discussions, circuit officers report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Answer: D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 366 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms after a near-miss safety incident, circuit officers report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Answer: D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 367 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention while reallocating limited teaching aids, the school leadership team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 368 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the school leadership team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 369 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 329: In a school responding to community concerns about discipline when updating the school improvement plan, a Director I may skip documented procedures in equity at system level whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 370 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum during subject panel discussions, the subject panel report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 371 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit while setting department performance targets, the subject panel report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 372 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams when digitising paper assessment records, the subject panel report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Answer: D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 373 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances during a peer coaching cycle, the guidance team report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 374 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance after a near-miss safety incident, the guidance team report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting

C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 375 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the guidance team report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Answer: D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 376 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 336: In a school introducing a new subject timetable while setting department performance targets, a Director I strengthens cross-sector coordination when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 377 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary when moderating end-of-term scripts, the academic board report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 378 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the academic board report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 379 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit following a learner wellbeing referral, the PTA executive report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 380 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the PTA executive report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 381 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the PTA executive report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 382 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention during a peer coaching cycle, the quality assurance team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 383 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 343: In a school digitising attendance and assessment records when moderating end-of-term scripts, a Director I may skip documented procedures in system strategy whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.

Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 384 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the quality assurance team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 385 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum while planning remedial support for struggling learners, newly posted teachers report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 386 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit when moderating end-of-term scripts, newly posted teachers report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Answer: D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 387 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams during a peer coaching cycle, newly posted teachers report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 388 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances while reallocating limited teaching aids, the assessment committee report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 389 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the assessment committee report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 390 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 350: In a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources during subject panel discussions, a Director I strengthens institutional integrity when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 391 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable ahead of a circuit quality visit, department heads report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 392 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary while planning remedial support for struggling learners, department heads report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question.

Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 393 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates while reallocating limited teaching aids, department heads report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 394 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit during a peer coaching cycle, circuit officers report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 395 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers when moderating end-of-term scripts, circuit officers report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 396 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms during mid-term review week, circuit officers report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 397 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 357: In a school strengthening girl-child retention when digitising paper assessment records, a Director I may skip documented procedures in talent and succession whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 398 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records during induction of newly posted staff, the school leadership team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 399 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline when moderating end-of-term scripts, the school leadership team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 400 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum when reviewing lesson observation notes, the subject panel report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes

C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 401 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit when reviewing lesson observation notes, the subject panel report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 402 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances during a peer coaching cycle, the guidance team report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 403 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 364: In a school recovering from disrupted attendance following a learner wellbeing referral, a Director I strengthens policy stewardship when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 404 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources ahead of a circuit quality visit, the guidance team report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 405 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable after a near-miss safety incident, the academic board report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Answer: D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question.

Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 406 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary when moderating end-of-term scripts, the academic board report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 407 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates during induction of newly posted staff, the academic board report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 408 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit when reviewing lesson observation notes, the PTA executive report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 409 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers when digitising paper assessment records, the PTA executive report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 410 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 371: In a school with mixed-ability classrooms after receiving conflicting community feedback, a Director I may skip documented procedures in organisational governance whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.

Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 411 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention during induction of newly posted staff, the quality assurance team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 412 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records when moderating end-of-term scripts, the quality assurance team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 413 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline when moderating end-of-term scripts, the quality assurance team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy

D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 414 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum while reallocating limited teaching aids, newly posted teachers report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 415 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit when reviewing lesson observation notes, newly posted teachers report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Answer: D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 416 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams when moderating end-of-term scripts, newly posted teachers report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 417 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 378: In a school with many learners who travel long distances during a peer coaching cycle, a Director I strengthens risk governance when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 418 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance following a learner wellbeing referral, the assessment committee report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 419 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources during mid-term review week, the assessment committee report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 420 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable after a parents' association meeting, department heads report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 421 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, department heads report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 422 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates after receiving conflicting community feedback, department heads report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 423 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, circuit officers report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 424 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 385: In a school supporting newly posted teachers ahead of a circuit quality visit, a Director I may skip documented procedures in executive oversight whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 425 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms while setting department performance targets, circuit officers report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 426 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention while setting department performance targets, the school leadership team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Answer: D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 427 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records while reallocating limited teaching aids, the school leadership team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 428 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline during subject panel discussions, the school leadership team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 429 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum while reallocating limited teaching aids, the subject panel report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 430 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit during induction of newly posted staff, the subject panel report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 431 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 392: In a senior high school preparing for mock exams while planning remedial support for struggling learners, a Director I strengthens public-sector accountability when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 432 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances during subject panel discussions, the guidance team report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 433 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance after a parents' association meeting, the guidance team report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 434 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the guidance team report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Answer: D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 435 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the academic board report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 436 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the academic board report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 437 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 399: In a school preparing a quality assurance visit after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, a Director I may skip documented procedures in equity at system level whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 438 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers when digitising paper assessment records, the PTA executive report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 439 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the PTA executive report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 440 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records during induction of newly posted staff, the quality assurance team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 441 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline when moderating end-of-term scripts, the quality assurance team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 442 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum when reviewing lesson observation notes, newly posted teachers report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 443 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 406: In a basic school in a peri-urban circuit during induction of newly posted staff, a Director I strengthens cross-sector coordination when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 444 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams following a learner wellbeing referral, newly posted teachers report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Answer: D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 445 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances when digitising paper assessment records, the assessment committee report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 446 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance after a parents' association meeting, the assessment committee report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 447 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources after a near-miss safety incident, the assessment committee report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 448 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable after analysing three weeks of attendance data, department heads report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 449 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary after analysing three weeks of attendance data, department heads report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?
A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response

C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 450 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 413: In a school where parents request clearer progress updates when reviewing lesson observation notes, a Director I may skip documented procedures in system strategy whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 451 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit during subject panel discussions, circuit officers report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 452 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers after a parents' association meeting, circuit officers report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 453 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms during a peer coaching cycle, circuit officers report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 454 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention during mid-term review week, the school leadership team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice

item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 455 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records ahead of a circuit quality visit, the school leadership team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 456 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline when moderating end-of-term scripts, the school leadership team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 457 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 420: In a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum during mid-term review week, a Director I strengthens institutional integrity when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 458 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the subject panel report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 459 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances after a parents' association meeting, the guidance team report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 460 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance ahead of a circuit quality visit, the guidance team report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 461 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable during induction of newly posted staff, the academic board report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 462 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 427: In a school with rising enrolment in lower primary while reallocating limited teaching aids, a Director I may skip documented procedures in talent and succession whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 463 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the academic board report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 464 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the PTA executive report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 465 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers after a near-miss safety incident, the PTA executive report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 466 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms when moderating end-of-term scripts, the PTA executive report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?
A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 467 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention when moderating end-of-term scripts, the quality assurance team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 468 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records after receiving conflicting community feedback, the quality assurance team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 469 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 434: In a school responding to community concerns about discipline during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, a Director I strengthens policy stewardship when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 470 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum when reviewing lesson observation notes, newly posted teachers report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 471 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a senior high school preparing for mock exams after a parents' association meeting, newly posted teachers report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 472 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the assessment committee report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 473 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources after a parents' association meeting, the assessment committee report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 474 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 441: In a school introducing a new subject timetable after a parents' association meeting, a Director I may skip documented procedures in organisational governance whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 475 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary during subject panel discussions, department heads report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 476 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, department heads report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 477 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school preparing a quality assurance visit while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, circuit officers report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 478 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers during induction of newly posted staff, circuit officers report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Answer: D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 479 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms while setting department performance targets, circuit officers report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 480 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 448: In a school digitising attendance and assessment records after analysing three weeks of attendance data, a Director I strengthens risk governance when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 481 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the school leadership team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 482 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the subject panel report that learner performance is uneven across streams. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 483 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit during a peer coaching cycle, the subject panel report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 484 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams after a parents' association meeting, the subject panel report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Answer: D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 485 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the guidance team report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 486 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance while reallocating limited teaching aids, the guidance team report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 487 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 455: In a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources after a near-miss safety incident, a Director I may skip documented procedures in executive oversight whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False

Answer: FALSE

Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 488 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the academic board report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed

Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 489 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the academic board report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 490 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates ahead of a circuit quality visit, the academic board report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 491 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit during mid-term review week, the PTA executive report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Answer: D. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.

Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 492 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers following a learner wellbeing referral, the PTA executive report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: A. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches

Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.

Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.

Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 493 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms when moderating end-of-term scripts, the PTA executive report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: C. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 494 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 462: In a school strengthening girl-child retention while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, a Director I strengthens public-sector accountability when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 495 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records when reviewing lesson observation notes, the quality assurance team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 496 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline during mid-term review week, the quality assurance team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 497 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum during a peer coaching cycle, newly posted teachers report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Answer: D. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 498 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a basic school in a peri-urban circuit during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, newly posted teachers report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 499 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances when digitising paper assessment records, the assessment committee report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 500 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 469: In a school recovering from disrupted attendance when updating the school improvement plan, a Director I may skip documented procedures in equity at system level whenever results appear urgent.

A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 501 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable after a near-miss safety incident, department heads report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: A. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 502 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary after a parents' association meeting, department heads report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Answer: D. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 503 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, department heads report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.

Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 504 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers when moderating end-of-term scripts, circuit officers report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?

A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence

Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement

Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 505 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 476: In a school with mixed-ability classrooms while setting department performance targets, a Director I strengthens cross-sector coordination when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 506 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the school leadership team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Answer: D. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 507 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records after receiving conflicting community feedback, the school leadership team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 508 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school responding to community concerns about discipline during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, the school leadership team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 509 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum while preparing the termly professional learning calendar, the subject panel report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 510 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams during induction of newly posted staff, the subject panel report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?
A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 511 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 483: In a school with many learners who travel long distances when moderating end-of-term scripts, a Director I may skip documented procedures in system strategy whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 512 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the guidance team report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 513 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources after a near-miss safety incident, the guidance team report that resources are unevenly shared across departments. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 514 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable during induction of newly posted staff, the academic board report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question.

Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 515 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary after a parents' association meeting, the academic board report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities

Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 516 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school where parents request clearer progress updates after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the academic board report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done

Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 517 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit after analysing three weeks of attendance data, the PTA executive report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps

Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.

Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 518 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 490: In a school supporting newly posted teachers during subject panel discussions, a Director I strengthens institutional integrity when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.

A. True
B. False

Answer: TRUE

Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.

Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.

Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 519 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms following a learner wellbeing referral, the PTA executive report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.

Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.

Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 520 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention while planning remedial support for struggling learners, the quality assurance team report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image

Answer: A. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks

Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 521 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records during a peer coaching cycle, the quality assurance team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Answer: D. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 522 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline when digitising paper assessment records, the quality assurance team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives

C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 523 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum while reallocating limited teaching aids, newly posted teachers report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: A. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 524 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 497: In a senior high school preparing for mock exams when digitising paper assessment records, a Director I may skip documented procedures in talent and succession whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 525 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school with many learners who travel long distances after a near-miss safety incident, the assessment committee report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Answer: D. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 526 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school recovering from disrupted attendance during a peer coaching cycle, the assessment committee report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 527 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources when reviewing lesson observation notes, the assessment committee report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Answer: D. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 528 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school introducing a new subject timetable during preparation for a stakeholder briefing, department heads report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information

Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 529 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school where parents request clearer progress updates when updating the school improvement plan, department heads report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight

Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity

Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 530 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 504: In a school preparing a quality assurance visit following a learner wellbeing referral, a Director I strengthens policy stewardship when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 531 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a school supporting newly posted teachers after a near-miss safety incident, circuit officers report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 532 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school with mixed-ability classrooms ahead of a circuit quality visit, circuit officers report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.

Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 533 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school strengthening girl-child retention during subject panel discussions, the school leadership team report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 534 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an afternoon remedial group in a school digitising attendance and assessment records during a peer coaching cycle, the school leadership team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate risk governance response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes
C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: C. Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done
Explanation: Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done is best because it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Incorrect — Blame individuals publicly without examining system causes: public blame without system analysis damages trust and misses root causes.
Correct — Escalate material risks with mitigation options, not after damage is done: it applies risk governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 535 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum when updating the school improvement plan, the subject panel report that timetable clashes reduce practical lesson time. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 536 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 511: In a basic school in a peri-urban circuit after receiving conflicting community feedback, a Director I may skip documented procedures in organisational governance whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 537 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a senior high school preparing for mock exams when moderating end-of-term scripts, the subject panel report that instructional time is lost to unplanned assemblies. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 538 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school with many learners who travel long distances during mid-term review week, the guidance team report that parents receive conflicting messages about homework. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 539 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school recovering from disrupted attendance ahead of a circuit quality visit, the guidance team report that inclusion plans exist on paper but not in daily practice. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
C. Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: B. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Use punishment as the first and only improvement strategy: punishment-first strategies ignore coaching, capacity, and the conditions that enable improvement.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 540 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting JHS final-year classes in a cluster of schools sharing limited teaching resources during induction of newly posted staff, the guidance team report that community partners want involvement without clear roles. What is the most appropriate executive oversight response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement
Explanation: Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement is best because it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.

Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Hold leaders accountable for outcomes while enabling professional judgement: it applies executive oversight standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 541 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting SHS form two classes in a school introducing a new subject timetable when updating the school improvement plan, the academic board report that teachers disagree about marking standards. What is the most appropriate cross-sector coordination response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting
C. Apply one rigid method to every learner and context
D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Answer: D. Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed
Explanation: Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed is best because it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in cross-sector coordination, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Incorrect — Apply one rigid method to every learner and context: one rigid method ignores learner needs, subject differences, and local context.
Correct — Align education actions with health, social protection, and local government where needed: it applies cross-sector coordination standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 542 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a newly merged department in a school with rising enrolment in lower primary after discovering inconsistent marking across streams, the academic board report that assessment data is collected but rarely discussed. What is the most appropriate talent and succession response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities
Explanation: Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities is best because structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in talent and succession, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Identify future leaders early and give them structured stretch opportunities: structured peer learning lets teachers exchange evidence-based methods and improve together.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 543 · TRUE / FALSE
Statement 518: In a school where parents request clearer progress updates during a peer coaching cycle, a Director I strengthens risk governance when decisions are evidence-informed, documented, and oriented to learner welfare.
A. True
B. False
Answer: TRUE
Explanation: True is best because the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in risk governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Correct — True: the statement correctly reflects a defensible professional principle in education practice.
Incorrect — False: rejecting a sound principle would leave practice without the safeguard the statement describes.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 544 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a boarding house cohort in a school preparing a quality assurance visit during induction of newly posted staff, the PTA executive report that exam malpractice risks are rising under pressure. What is the most appropriate equity at system level response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps
Explanation: Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps is best because it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in equity at system level, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Allocate support where disadvantage is greatest and monitor closing of gaps: it applies equity at system level standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 545 · MULTIPLE CHOICE
As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a maths stream in a school supporting newly posted teachers while reallocating limited teaching aids, the PTA executive report that leaders struggle to prioritise competing improvement goals. What is the most appropriate institutional integrity response for a Director I?
A. Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups
B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Hide weak results to protect the institution's image
Answer: B. Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches
Explanation: Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches is best because it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in institutional integrity, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Focus only on high performers and ignore struggling groups: serving only high performers widens equity gaps and neglects learners who need support.
Correct — Protect whistleblowing channels and act on credible integrity breaches: it applies institutional integrity standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.

Incorrect — Hide weak results to protect the institution's image: hiding weak results blocks honest diagnosis and prevents targeted improvement.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 546 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting an English stream in a school with mixed-ability classrooms during induction of newly posted staff, the PTA executive report that safeguarding information arrives late. What is the most appropriate organisational governance response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Answer: D. Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information
Explanation: Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information is best because it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in organisational governance, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Ensure boards or oversight bodies receive timely, accurate decision information: it applies organisational governance standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 547 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting a science cohort in a school strengthening girl-child retention following a learner wellbeing referral, the quality assurance team report that new teachers lack mentoring support. What is the most appropriate public-sector accountability response for a Director I?

A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
D. Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence
Answer: C. Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks
Explanation: Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks is best because it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in public-sector accountability, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Correct — Explain performance and resource use clearly to the public without concealing risks: it applies public-sector accountability standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Outsource judgement to rumours instead of verified evidence: acting on rumour instead of verified evidence leads to unfair or unsafe decisions.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 548 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting lower primary classes in a school digitising attendance and assessment records when digitising paper assessment records, the quality assurance team report that lesson observation feedback is delayed. What is the most appropriate system strategy response for a Director I?

A. Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures
B. Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting

C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
D. Skip consultation and impose changes overnight
Answer: C. Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity
Explanation: Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity is best because it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in system strategy, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Rely on informal personal favours instead of documented procedures: informal favours replace fair procedures with uneven treatment and weak accountability.
Incorrect — Reward silence about problems rather than early reporting: rewarding silence discourages early reporting and allows risks to escalate.
Correct — Set system-wide priorities that schools can implement with available capacity: it applies system strategy standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Incorrect — Skip consultation and impose changes overnight: imposing change without consultation reduces ownership and often creates resistance.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 549 · MULTIPLE CHOICE

As a senior system leader accountable for organisational outcomes supporting upper primary classes in a school responding to community concerns about discipline after a parents' association meeting, the quality assurance team report that professional learning is ad hoc and poorly recorded. What is the most appropriate policy stewardship response for a Director I?
A. Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists
B. Delay action until external pressure forces a response
C. Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient
D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Answer: D. Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives
Explanation: Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives is best because it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in policy stewardship, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — Collect more data indefinitely without reviewing what already exists: endless data collection without review wastes time that could improve practice now.
Incorrect — Delay action until external pressure forces a response: delaying action lets the problem grow and withholds timely support from learners and staff.
Incorrect — Treat policy documents as optional when they are inconvenient: treating binding policy as optional invites inconsistency and compliance risk.
Correct — Keep policy coherent, update obsolete rules, and prevent conflicting directives: it applies policy stewardship standards with practical steps that protect learning quality, fairness, and evidence-informed action.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Question 550 · TRUE / FALSE

Statement 525: In a school aligning schemes of work to the current curriculum ahead of a circuit quality visit, a Director I may skip documented procedures in executive oversight whenever results appear urgent.
A. True
B. False
Answer: FALSE
Explanation: False is best because the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem. This is an original GigaLearn practice item — not an official GES examination question. Learning takeaway: in executive oversight, choose the option that uses evidence, protects learners, and follows fair professional process — not shortcuts that hide problems.
Incorrect — True: the statement overstates or misstates a professional principle when checked against sound practice.
Correct — False: the statement is false because it contradicts sound professional standards described in the stem.
Verification: SOURCE ANSWER — REVIEW REQUIRED

Source & verification note

Practice resource only. The published set for this rank contains 550 distinct items. No item in this guide is labelled human-verified. Do not cite these keys as official GES examination answers. Cross-rank exact duplicates are not counted toward the 550 target.